A VERY BRAVE LITTLE GIRL

HER BROTHER CHOPS OFF THREE OF HER FINGERS WITH A HATCHET.

She Never Cries as the Doctor Sews them on, and Jays it Bida't Hart-A Little Story that Made a Big Yarn in Brooklyn. Henry Bavendam, the 9-year-old son of Mounted Policeman Bavendam of the Fourteenth Brooklyn precinct, a slender little fellow with curiy brown hair, a mild and pleasing countenance, and a propensity for playing with edged tools, chopped off three of his 7-year-old sister's fingers Monday night with a hatchet, He did it accidentally, but all the same he found himself famous in print yesterday afternoon as an II-year-old savage who, while playing dime museum with his sister, had insisted that she put her head on the chopping block, and let him cut it off to use for a "won-the ends of the three fingers dangling by strips of skin and ilesh, and the blood spurting out all over them.

Her father sprang forward, seized the wounded hand in his big, strong one, grasped the little one in his strms, and ran with her to the parest doctor—Dr. Winter, in Patchen avenue, she never whimpered or cried after the first little scream, although Henry, left behind at the house, was nearly frantic, dancing up and down in terror and crying as though his heart would break. His mother had her hands so full in trying to calim him that she had no chance to be frightened about the little girl. At the Doctor's the little one asked if she was going to die, and when the Doctor told her there was no danger of that, she said she wouldn't mind nuch if he did hurt her, and, putting her little face against her father's arm, she held her two rows of even, white teeth together tightly, and never cried once while the Doctor took hold of the dangling finger tips gently, washed off the blood, pressed them back into place, and then, with a sharp needle and line thread, sewed each one firmly to the stumps that had been left on the hand. Then he instened all the fingers securely to a light piece of wood, put plenty of cotton about them, and over all wound broad, white bandages, until her hand and part of her arm was a stiff, shapeless bundle.

The Doctor told her he was done then, and that he guessed two of the fingers would certainly grow on again, and may be, if she was a good little girl and kept her hand very still and didn't fret any, the other one would grow on too, and she would have a hand just as good as ever, only the fingers would always be stiff. She lifted her head up, and with lips that trembled a little thanked the Doctor and said it hadn't hurt her-much. Then she put her head back on her father's arm and was carried home.

It was bedtime for little folks then, and she was tucked away snugly for the night, with her

THE HUSBAND OF 33 WOMEN.

A Jury Decides in Four Minutes that Mr. Brown is Excessively Married.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 26.-About fifteen of the thirty-three women who have been married to James W. Brown, the champion Benedict. since 1883, confronted him in the Recorder s Court yesterday afternoon. The list of victims included Helen Brownlee and Annie Winters of Chicago, who, with Annie M. Hazel, Mary Benjamin, and Nancy Robertson, were the only ones called on to give evidence against Brown. ones called on to give evidence against Brown. The Benjamin woman was the prosecuting witness. It was established that Brown's method was to advertise for a housekeeper, select as a victim the one from among the applicants who pleased him most, and marry her as soon as possible. He would desert her after a few days.

Five clergymen of this city certified to mar-

as soon as possible. He would desert her after a few days.

Five clergymen of this city certified to marrying Brown to as many different women, and the case against him was so clear that the prosecutor left it to the jury without argument. Brown testified in his own behalf, and made a sorry mess of it, contradicting himself at every turn. He professed not to remember any of his dupes, asserted that he was only once married and that his wife was dead, and that he had once been confined as a lunatic in New Orleans. Brown was pallid, and looked like a sick man. During the trial Nancy Robertson's indignation could not be repressed, and she denounced Brown as a perfidious wretch. The jury agreed with her evidently, for they took only four minutes to find him guilty. Sentence was deferred for the Court to investigate Brown's career still further.

The New Jersey State Democratic Committee hired a stereopticon in Jersey City last night and fired off a lot of Democracy, Jeffersonian and otherwise, at the people, on a big white canvas on top of a building at the junction of Newark avenue and Montgomery street. the most conspicuous place in the city. The canvas showed a portrait of Cleveland first; then came Thurman's portrait, and following it quotations from Cleveland's letter of acceptance. Among some of the other gems of thought were the following:

Lotta Wants Another Theatre.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 26.-Lotta, through her Brother, John Straotres, recently purchased the St. Paul Grand Opera House for a little less than $150,000. She is now negotiating for the bravity morrigaged and Gnancially embarrassed Hennepin Avenue Theatre in Minneapolis, with every prospect of success. John Grabtres and Mrs. Crabtres. Lotts's mother, are now in Minneapolis suching the negotiations.

BROOKLYN'S BIG REGISTRATION.

The Politicians on Both Sides are Figuring on the Probable Result.

The fact that nearly 54,000 voters were enrolled in Brooklyn on Tuesday, the first day of registration, greatly interests the politicians of the big City of Churches. There is a great divergence of opinion in the rival political camps as to how the vote will be distributed in November. William H. Furey, who is practically at the head of the Democratic machinery, is confident that Cleveland's majority in the county will not fall short of 20,000, and he would not be surprised if Hill should get a still larger vote.

moval to the city. John Cottler, an Eastern District man, is also a candidate for the nomination.

Alderman James Kane, the Sixth ward leader, and one of the most popular Democrats in the county, is an aspirant for the County Clerkship, and has hosts of friends busily engaged in urging his claims for the nomination. In the Sixth and other South Brooklyn wards, Kane has thousands of followers, and as there is a feeling abroad that the Sixth ward representative of Joffersonian Democracy was not well treated by the national Administration, some of the party managers are of the opinion that it will be excellent politics to put his name on the County ticket this fall. While nothing has yet been decided on, it is safe to say that Hugh McLaughlin, Mr. Murtha, and Mr. Delmar, and the other long-headed Democratic leaders will counsel such local nominations only as will be sure to add strength to the national and State tickets, and that the mistakes which the Republican managers are anticipating will be avoided.

The Jury Before Whom he was Tried for Murder Locked Up Over Night.

Butcher Frederick Schilling, on trial for his life before Judge Gildersleeve and a jury in the General Sessions for stabbing his wife in his butcher shop, 1.214 First avenue, on March 14 last, testified yesterday in his own defence. Schilling went to the witness stand with a confident air. He said that on March 14 last, when the store was closed and the lights were when the store was closed and the lights were out, he went into the shop with 'ils wife to get some steak. He threw down his knife on the counter, and turned to take down some meat. Immediately his wife screamed. 'Oh, God, I have stabbed myseli.' and ran out of the shop. He followed to get a doctor. The next day he went to the police station and told Capt, Gunner that his wife had stabbed herself by falling against the knife.

'I did not stab my wife," he continued, "and I do not know that I caused her death."

Lawyer Purdy, for Schilling, and Assistant District Attorney Dawson argued the case for nearly four hours, and the case was given to the jury set word to Judge Gildersieeve that they could not agree on a verdict. Judge Gildersieeve ordered the jury to be locked in the court room until 10½ A. M. to-day.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday authorized the payment of $3,000 and interest to Bankson T. Morgan for the expenses he incurred in a suit by ex-Justice Hogan in 1874 to oust him from offlee. Gen. Morgan claimed $5,224.90, with interest.
Public Works Commissioner Newton was permitted to transfer $11,000 to repair sewers along the new pipe line from 135th street to the Central Park reservoir before the pipe is laid.

The proposal to transfer $0,200 from the Board of Education funds to defray the expense of a proposed course of free lectures to working men and women was discussed, but action postponed, as Mayor Tawitt raised the technical point that the Board of Education had marely consented to such a use of an unexpended balance, but had not requested its transfer.

The Board ordered the printing of 100 copies of the departmental estimates for 1890. The Board will tackle the estimates about Oct. 20. fice. Gen. Morgan claimed $5,294.90, with interest.

ECHOES OF THE "O" STRIKE. THE MEN SAY THE FIGHT IS NOT OVER

AND THEY WILL YET WIN. They Assert that the Railroad is Losing More Money than at First-The Brother hood Asked to Support Them in the War CHICAGO, Sept. 26,-A newspaper here prints this morning a long circular issued a week ago by Aurora Division. No. 32, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers to the members of the order. The circular says: "A great many may think the strike on the Q is an old story, but such isn't the case. The I have never," said Mr. Furey. "known the strike is just as good as it ever was, and the men are just as determined and solid, and the company is losing money as fast as, if not faster, than when the strike first began. Wrecks are numerous. The company has for the last then they will have to come to it or have their road sink into the hands of a receiver, and he will have to settle with the strikers if he wishes to run the road, for as it is now the best of weather and the scabs are having wrecks and break downs, how will it be in the winter and in joggy weather, which is soon to come?

"We hope that great good will come of our next Convention and that our constitution and by-laws will be changed so that when we go to war we will have better rules and laws to work by. We also hope that there will be a federation of the four brotherhoods, and laws passed so that when there is to be a strike, every man can know of it and keep away scabs.

"We hope that all brothers will see the necessity of being prompt with their assessments, for strikers cannot live without money, and as winter is approaching will have to have something to keep warm with. We tell you, brothers, we will win, and when this fight is wou, and a federation is formed, railroad corporations will act more like men, and not so much like tyrants.

"It has and is costing the strikers a great deal, but they are satisfied if the Brotherhood at large will support them in the future as in the past. Forty dollars a month is small pay, but when we consider what we are working for we do not grumble. Now, brothers, this fight is not one road's fight, but every system's in the country, and every small road also."

The circular says the Order of Hallway Conductors should be taken into the federation "if it will kick out its scabs and sympathizers." and proposes that a committee from each order form a "grand adjustment board" with power to act and control all the systems. Should they be unable to settle any grievance peaceably and a strike becomes necessary, let it be a strike of all the orders in the federation at one on the offending system, and let the grand adjustment board stop other roads from handing cars belonging to the road the strike is on. Members of the Brotherhood are also urged to consider establishing a large sinki strike fund.

All communications should be addressed to J. A. Baucreisen, Aurora. This man is the chief of the Aurora division, whose name is well known in connection with the recent "Q" dynamite plot, for alleged complicity in which he is now awaiting trial under bonds.

MEN AND WOMEN SIT TOGETHER.

Judge Barrett Refuses to Interfere in a Dispute Over the Jewish Ritual. Adolph Kalischer yesterday brought to Judge Barrett's attention in Supreme Court. Chambers, a dispute which is agitating the congregation "Bith Israel Bikur Cholim," whose synagogue is at Lexington avenue and Seventy-second street, Mr. Kalischer sought to restrain the congregation, and Harris Rosenthal and others, its trustees, from departing from the orthodox Jewish custom in permitting male and female worshippers to sit to-The Rev. John F. Hooper, pastor of St. The read back on her fathers arm and was carling the formed but the flower of the flower gether promiseuously during divine service. In his affidavit Mr. Kalischer relates that up to the present time services have been held in strict accordance with the orthodox Jewish ritual, the males sitting down stairs and the females in the gallery up stairs. On Sunday last a meeting was held, at which Mr. Clark moved that the congregation allow the sexes to sit together. President Rosenthal refused to recognize the motion, declaring that power to make the change rested entirely with the Board of Trustees, Mr. Kalischer says that he and many others, including Bernard Mayer, by the Board of Trustees, but the President would not listen to them. However, a motion was made to delegate the nower of the congregation to the trustees, Kalischer declares that lifty-rine persons voted, thirty-one against and wently-eight in favor of the proposition, but Secretary Max Gross reported the vote to be a tie, thirty for each side. Kalischer charges that the President, aithough he had voted before, cast another vote and decided the alleged tie in the affirmative. Then the trustees adopted the innovation.

Bernard Mayer made a corroborative affidavit, and both agreed that the new arrangement would be a great damage to the congregation, many of whom could not now conscientiously attend divine service in their place of worship.

Kearney objected to this interference and told the men to go to work but the Italians, fearing arrest would not do so. Mr. Kearney then took a fork himself and unloaded some of the stuff, and called upon the officers to arrest him if they dared. This they didn't do. Mr. Kearney telegraphed to New York for Lawyer Ralph J. Burnett. Upon the arrival of Mr. Burnett the men were again told to go to work, but they refused. Then the foreman Joseph Pasquier, and Mr. Kearney sot to work unloading the seew themselves. No sooner had the foreman thrown a fork full of the garbage overboard than he was put under arrest. The police did not interfere with Mr. Kearney, however, and he was allowed to shovel away to his heart's content. He got tired of the job finally and quit. Progress on the Panama Canal.

PANAMA, Sept. 17 .- The Star and Herald says: "Several contracts on the canal have open finished, turned over to the canal company, and accepted after due inspection. Facts pany, and accepted after due inspection. Facts are stubborn things, and these facts give the lie to the innumerable vague floating rumors in circulation about the canal company shutting down work. Of course, they are shutting down, and just as fast as they can, but only so at the completion of their work. Other equally important sections will also shortly shut down, and before the outside world suspects it the cable will flash throughout Christendom the tidings that ships are flowing their onward way over the 1sthmus of Panama."

The Tidewater Pipe Line's Purchase,

The announcement in THE SUN yesterday that Lombard & Ayres the oil refiners had sold out to the Ocean and Chester Oil Companies, both of which are controlled by the Tidewater Pipe Line Company, caused controlled by the lidewater Pipe Line Company, caused commotion in petroleum circles down town. The price was stated to be $2.00kt000. It was stated yesterday on good authority that the price was $1,250,000. The Tidewater Pipe Line Company and the National Company, which is controlled by the Standard, are, in the minds of many, rivals. The purchase, if erefore was considered significant. Lombard & Ayres have shown to considered a thoroughly independent irm, though with close business relations with the Tidewater Company. Company Lombard and Avres will now be salaried offiment the Tidewater Company, though holding stock in the concern. It is provisible that the Chester refinery will be moved to Hayonne, where the Ocean and Lombard & Ayres's refineries are. The output of the Lombard & Ayres's refinery has been at the rate of 12,000 cases of refined oil daily, with a yearly consumption of 12,000,000 barrels of crude oil.

The railroad bridge that is to cross the Hud-The railroad bridge that is to cross the Hudsea at Fort Clinton is at last taking definite shape, as tated in The Sun yesterday. Actor De La Claire Brought New York on a Charge of Stealing It, and Acquitted

George Gervals, an actor who travels with the Metropolitan Dramatic Company, and whose stage name is George De La Claire, was arraigned before Recorder Smyth in the General Sessions yesterday charged with grand larceny in stealing a black-and-tan pup three months old from William H. McGiven, theatrical manager of 215 East Eleventh street. on June 22 last. Mr. McGiven testified that his mother, who lived with him, owned the dog. On the evening of June 22 the witness met On the evening of June 22 the witness met Gervais or De La Claire in Union square, and they talked about trading dogs. De La Claire went with the complainant to McGiven's home, and McGiven's mother consented to let De La Claire take the puppy away in order that he might show it to a friend and get his opinion as to the value of the dog. He promised to return with the dog in half an hour, but didn't. When the witness next heard from De La Claire he was in Amsterdam, N. Y. with his theatrical company. Manager McGiven started at once for Amsterdam, but De La Claire aid a man who claimed to be a detective had taken the puppy from him while he was at Ballston Spa under threat of arresting him and locking him up in the Ballston Spa jail.

Actor De La Claire testified that when he met Manager McGiven in Union square McGiven said he wanted to sell a black-and-tan pup, and the witness went to the complainant's house and got the dog, with the understanding that he would sell it if he could. He went to Ballston Spa and playedon June 28, and a man called him to the stage entrance while the play was in progress and said he would arrest the witness if the witness with not give up the pup. The witness gave it up.

When Mr. McGiven came to me with a policeman and demanded the pup, "continued Mr. De La Claire. I said I had given it up at Ballston Spa, and to prove it to him we telephoned to Landlord McKee of the Eagle Hotel in Ballston. who corroborated my story. Then I was arrested and brought to New York. I haven't the slightest notion where the dog is now. I think it must have been an impostor who got the dog."

Actor De La Claire was acquitted. Gervais or De La Claire in Union square, and

The total sales of stocks were 23, 307 shares. BOSTON CLOSING QUOTATIONS. | Section | Sect

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 26. The volume of business done upon the Stock Exchange to-day was quite a little larger than yesterday, and the indications are that a much arger proportion of it was legitimate. That is I to say the professional dealings were less of a factor. There were no special developments. but the opinion expressed in this column is week ago that the appearance of Messrs, J. S. Morgan & Co. and their associates in the St. Paul imbroglio means an adjustment of the differences that exist among the Granger trunk lines is constantly gaining ground. Naturally the market responds to the more confident feeling that results from this entirely reasonable belief. However, the Granger stocks were not as conspicuous to-day as a number of others.

The decided movements were in New England, Oregon Transcontinental, Northern Paeific preferred, and several of the specialties. That in New England was of the greatest magnitude. It seems useless to repeat the threadbare reports regarding this property, but it is proper to remark that the view which obtains the greatest credence among the best-in-formed people is that the Boston and Albany and Vanderbilt interests are liable to take control of the property at the annual election in December. Northern Pacific preferred was higher on covering largely for Philadelphia account, where a fairly large account is said to have existed. Oregon Transcontinental was affected more than sympathetically with Northern Pacific, presumably for the reason that plans for the payment of a large part if not all of the company's indebtedness are being perfected. It may be remembered that the eompany has between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 of collateral trust notes maturing with the end of the year, and it is understood that these obligations are to be paid off.

The appearance of frest in some of the Southern States inspired a more confident feeling regarding railroad properties in that territory, and also induced a good deal of covering of some stocks like Louisville and Nashville, which have been sold pretty freely in consequence of the yellow fever scare. The list of specialties that received attention was a long and interesting one, including at material advances, Oregon Railway and Navigation. Cincinnat. Indianapolis, St. Louis and Chicago. Chosapeake and Ohio certificates. "Nickel Plate" first preferred, and Columbus and Hocking Valley. The figures relative to the corn crop have aroused a good deal of interest in roads in the corn belt. Aside from that a reaction was naturally due in Hocking Valley from the sharp depression of last week, while Chesapeake and Ohio securities are influenced by progress that is being made in the reorganization of the company.

About the only news deserving publicity was the declaration of the company.

About the only news deserving publicity was the declaration of the usual quarterly dividend upon Manitoba stock, and an isolated dividend of 15 % cent. upon Norfolk and Western preferred. An authoritative statement that the New England Company has decided to issue $250.000 more of preferred stock to meet demands for equipment was not construed, at least in the market, as unfavorable to the common stock. The closing was strong, with prices universally higher than yesterday.

Final sales compare with those of yesterday as follows: long and interesting one, including, at mate-
